

Introduced Western Wheatgrass Herbaceous Vegetation (5)

Location: This type occurs in clearings and meadows where it was planted following clear cutting or chaining of the original woodland vegetation. It was mapped on the basis of field observations.

Photosignature: Western wheatgrass meadows are gray to pale green and have an exceptionally smooth texture resulting from the rhizomatous growth form of the grass.

No ground photographs are available for this map class.